How to Play

One player must secretly chose words from their spelling list and write them on their grid (one letter in each square). The words can be written upwards, downwards, left or right.

The other player must try to guess the locations of the letters. If they guess correctly, the first player must tell them the letter in the square they guessed. If they guessed incorrectly, the first player says 'miss' and the second player fills the guessed square with an 'X'.

The second player must aim to discover or guess all the words that the first player used. The game ends when all the spelling words have been discovered.
